

Shanghai Concord Medical Cancer Center's Basic Medical Services have been Fully Covered by Medical Insurance

February 20, 2019

BEIJING, Feb. 20, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Concord Medical Services Holdings Limited ("Concord Medical" or the "Company") (NYSE: CCM), a leading specialty hospital management solution provider and operator of a network of radiotherapy and diagnostic imaging centers in China, today announced the nuclear magnetic resonance imaging and cancer radiotherapy services of its Shanghai Concord Medical Cancer Center (the "Center") have been covered by medical insurance from February 20, 2019. As such, the basic medical services of the Center, including general outpatient registration, chemotherapy, linear accelerator radiotherapy, blood examination, image examination (such as nuclear magnetic resonance, CT, ultrasound, molybdenum target, electrocardiogram), medicines and consumables, have been fully covered by medical insurance.

The Center develops individualized diagnosis and treatment scheme for each patient and discusses each clinical radiotherapy plan with the clinician, dosimetrist and physicist team of MD Anderson. A team of doctors, technicians and physicists provide precise treatment services, and senior nurses lead the whole course management services. The Center follows the standardized international quality control standards, such as the medical process and quality control system of MD Anderson Cancer Center in the United States, in such aspects as precise treatment, thoughtful care and emergency measures, to provide security for patients' treatment.
