"We saw another quarter of solid growth driven by healthy revenue increases in both existing and newly added centers," said Dr. Jianyu Yang, director, president and chief executive officer of Concord Medical. "In line with our expansion plan, we opened seven new centers and acquired four centers during the quarter. With a healthy acquisition pipeline and existing contracts for the opening of new centers, we remain confident to meet our target of adding 34 to 39 centers in 2010."

"We continue to build Concord Medical's brand awareness and reputation through high-profile marketing and academic activities," continued Dr. Yang. "In June, we hosted the largest cancer treatment and diagnosis forum in our history, attracting more than 350 established professionals. During the forum, we were proud to announce the publication of Concord Medical's clinical textbook on stereotactic body radiation therapy using the body gamma knife, a first in China."

"With a favorable regulatory environment and increasing consumer demand, the cancer treatment and diagnostic market in China continues to be very strong. We will continue to work to extend our leadership, educate the market and differentiate the Concord Medical brand. I am confident that Concord Medical is well positioned to maximize our potential in this rapidly developing market," Dr. Yang concluded.

Mr. Boxun Zhang, Concord Medical's corporate vice president, commented, "Healthy top line growth contributed to margin expansion compared to the first quarter, which is a seasonally slow period due to the Chinese New Year holiday. During the second half of the year, we plan to continue to enhance operational efficiency while strategically investing in network expansion to support profitable growth. We also continue to progress according to our schedule for fulfilling Sarbanes Oxley requirements."

Recent Business Update

In July, Concord Medical began preliminary operations of its first specialty cancer treatment hospital under a joint venture agreement with the Chang'An Hospital. Also in July, the Company's second specialty cancer treatment hospital, the Beijing Proton Medical Center, received approval from the Ministry of Health and is in the process of completing the remaining application process.

Second Quarter Fiscal 2010 Results

Concord Medical reported total net revenues of RMB99.4 million ($14.7 million) for the second quarter of 2010, representing a 38.3% increase from the corresponding period in 2009, primarily due to patient volume growth from established centers as well as from new centers added through organic development and acquisitions in 2009 and the first half of 2010.

Cost of revenues in the second quarter of 2010 was RMB30.2 million ($4.5 million), a 36.2% increase from the corresponding period in 2009, primarily due to the higher depreciation cost associated with the new equipment purchases in 2009 and the first half of 2010.

Gross profit margin in the second quarter of 2010 was 69.7% as compared to 69.2% in the corresponding period in 2009.

Operating expenses, consisting of selling expenses and general and administrative expenses, were RMB22.2 million ($3.3 million) in the second quarter of 2010, compared to RMB7.4 million in the corresponding period in 2009. The increase was largely due to the expanded business size and additional post-IPO related professional expenses.

Operating income was RMB47.1 million ($6.9 million), representing an 11.2% increase from the corresponding period in 2009. Operating profit excluding share-based compensation expenses (non-GAAP) was RMB49.7 million ($7.3 million), a 17.3% increase from the corresponding period in 2009.

Income tax expense was RMB12.9 million ($1.9 million), compared to an income tax expense of RMB8.8 million in the corresponding period in 2009. The effective tax rate for the second quarter of 2010 was 28.5% as compared to 28.3% in the previous quarter and 21.1% in the corresponding period in 2009.

Net income was RMB32.2 million ($4.8 million), representing a 2.1% decrease from the corresponding period in 2009. Both basic and diluted earnings per ADS for the second quarter of 2010 were RMB0.66 ($0.10).

Adjusted EBITDA (non-GAAP), was RMB76.2 million ($11.2 million) for the second quarter of 2010, representing a 22.6% increase from the corresponding period in 2009.

Capital expenditure for the second quarter of 2010 was RMB130.9 million ($19.3 million). Total depreciation expenses were RMB19.8 million ($2.9 million). In addition, amortization of acquired intangibles was RMB6.7 million ($1.0 million). The Company expects amortization of acquired intangibles to be approximately RMB28.5 million ($4.2 million) in 2010, assuming no additional intangibles are acquired through potential acquisitions during the year.

As of June 30, 2010, the Company had total fixed assets with a net book value of RMB677.1million ($99.9 million) and cash of RMB863.4 million ($127.3 million). The decline was mainly due to the increased fixed assets balance and prepayment for equipment purchase for our network expansion.

As of June 30, 2010, the Company had bank credit lines totaling RMB2.0 billion (US$297.9million).

Accounts receivable was RMB137.1 million ($20.2 million) as of June 30, 2010, as compared to RMB111.3 million as of December 31, 2009. The average turnover days was 113 days as of June 30, 2010, as compared to 119 days as of December 31, 2009.

Outlook for Fiscal Year 2010

Concord Medical reaffirms that its estimated range of total net revenues for 2010 is RMB367 million to RMB398 million, which would represent a 25.5% to 36.1% increase from 2009.

The Company reaffirms that it expects to add 34 to 39 radiotherapy and diagnostic imaging centers in 2010, and the range of expected total capital expenditures related to these new centers is approximately RMB400 million to RMB450 million.

This forecast reflects Concord Medical's current and preliminary view, which is subject to change.

Safe Harbor Statement

This press release contains forward-looking statements. These statements constitute “forward-looking” statements within the meaning of Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and as defined in the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These forward-looking statements can be identified by terminology such as “anticipate,” “believe,” “estimate,” “expect,” “forecast,” “intend,” “may,” “plan,” “project,” “predict,” “should” and “will” and similar expressions. These forward looking statements are based upon management’s current views and expectations with respect to future events and are not a guarantee of future performance. Furthermore, these statements are, by their nature, subject to a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual performance and results to differ materially from those discussed in the forward-looking statements as a result of a number of factors. Such factors include: the number of new radiotherapy and diagnostic imaging centers opened; the increase in the number of patients in existing centers; the establishment of specialty cancer hospitals; changes in the healthcare industry in China, including changes in the healthcare policies and regulations of the PRC government; and technological or therapeutic changes affecting the field of cancer treatment and diagnostic imaging. Further information regarding these and other risks is included in the Company’s filings with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission at <http://www.sec.gov>. The Company does not undertake any obligation to update any forward-looking statement, except as required under applicable law.

About Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To supplement the consolidated financial statements presented in accordance with United States Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP), Concord Medical uses certain non-GAAP measures. The Company presents certain of its financial information that is adjusted from results based on GAAP to exclude the impact of share-based compensation expense. The Company believes excluding share-based compensation expense from its non-GAAP financial measures is useful for its management and investors to assess and analyze the Company’s core operating results as such expense is not directly attributable to the underlying performance of the Company’s business operations and do not impact its cash earnings. Concord Medical also believes these non-GAAP measures excluding share-based compensation expense are important in helping investors to understand the Company’s current financial performance and future prospects and to compare business trends among different reporting periods on a consistent basis. In addition, Concord Medical also presents the non-GAAP measure of Adjusted EBITDA, which is defined in this announcement as net income plus interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, share-based compensation expenses and other adjustments. Other adjustments include change in fair value of convertible notes, foreign exchange loss and other income. Furthermore, Adjusted EBITDA eliminates the impact of items that the Company does not consider indicative of the performance of its network of centers. The Company believes investors will similarly use Adjusted EBITDA as one of the key metrics to evaluate its financial performance and to compare its current operating results with corresponding historical periods and with other companies in the healthcare services industry. The presentation of these additional measures should not be considered a substitute for or superior to GAAP results or as being comparable to results reported or forecasted by other companies. The non-GAAP measures have been reconciled to GAAP measures in the attached financial statements.
